Barrio Logan Community Plan Update: Will It Address Community Environmental Challenges?

by Source on April 18, 2013 · 1 comment

in Environment, Government, Health, Politics

By Joy Williams

It’s official: Barrio Logan is an environmental justice hot spot.
According to CalEnviroScreen, the State’s environmental justice screening model, the Barrio Logan area ranks among the most vulnerable areas of the entire state.

Currently, 92113, the Barrio Logan zip code ranks in the top 5% in the state for environmental justice risks to the community and highest in San Diego County.

Developed by the California Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment, CalEnviroScreen ranks California zip codes by their cumulative impacts of economic, environmental, health, and social disadvantage indicators. The model is in final draft mode and has had extensive input from community groups, academics, and others. With those particular indicators, it shouldn’t come as a surprise to anyone who’s been in Barrio Logan anytime in the last several decades that we’re at the top of that not-so-majestic list.

A strikingly obvious feature of Barrio Logan is that land uses are mixed together in a way not seen in any other community in San Diego. Industries, homes, schools, auto body shops, recycling yards, stores, and parks all share the same compact space, wedged in between the I-5 freeway and the waterfront industries bordering San Diego Bay south of the Convention Center.

Heavy diesel truck traffic moves around and through the community; cargo ships run their engines at the Tenth Avenue Marine Terminal; and the BNSF railyard hosts aging locomotives a short distance upwind of Perkins Elementary School. Smaller industries contribute their own hazards to the community profile – they may be directly next door to homes and may have traffic, odor, vibration, and noise impacts, as well as fire hazards. Pollution close to people is reflected in Barrio Logan’s “hot spot” identity.
to screening for pollution burdens, CalEnviroScreen ranks communities on population characteristics that make people more vulnerable to health damage from toxic exposures. Factors such as age (very young or very old), poverty, linguistic isolation, and education level affect the physical capacity to tolerate toxic assaults on our bodies, or the ability, even in our society, to access the health care system and get appropriate medical care.

High levels of health conditions such as asthma in our community may be at least partly caused by toxic exposures, and in turn, make pollution exposure more damaging. Factors such as age (very young or very old), poverty, linguistic isolation, and education level affect the physical capacity to tolerate toxic assaults on our bodies, or the ability to access the health care system and get appropriate medical care.

Barrio Logan’s daunting profile of pollution sources and vulnerability requires active, informed residents and comprehensive policy solutions, starting with reform of the land use. The good news is that a new Barrio Logan Community Plan Update is headed to City Council, and a stakeholder committee of community residents and businesses have been actively engaged in the planning process.
The community’s vision of the new Community Plan Update will address several of Barrio Logan’s most pressing problems: separation of incompatible land uses; provision of more affordable housing; designation of parking areas for the large industrial workforce; and substantial conservation of industrial land uses to support the job-intensive waterfront.

At the same time, residents want the new plan to preserve all that’s good about Barrio Logan – the Latino cultural history and art, the neighborhood feeling, the access to San Diego Bay, the resistance to gentrification of the working class community – all the traits referred to in planning documents as “community character” that make Barrio Logan singular and special.

Environmental Health Coalition, an organization that has fought toxic pollution in Barrio Logan for the last three decades, kicked off the five-year planning process with grant funding for the community visioning process.

After the City of San Diego spent all the funding, Environmental Health Coalition continued the process by providing basic training in land-use planning and hosting monthly stakeholder meetings of residents, business owners, and City staff. After the community completed its inspiring vision, the Environmental Health Coalition worked to find additional funding for the City to produce a completed draft Community Plan Update.

Two different land use alternatives are on their way to City Council. “Alternative 1” is the version preferred by the stakeholder committee and Environmental Health Coalition. Alternative 1 provides for a “transition zone” separating the industrial waterfront from the residential blocks of Barrio Logan. Neither residential nor industrial uses would be allowed in the transition zone – a critical factor in accomplishing the separation of incompatible land uses.

The Barrio Logan Community Plan Update will go to City Council sometime later this year. Environmental Health Coalition will continue to engage residents in advocating for passage of the plan and speedy plan implementation. In the meantime, the high CalEnviroScreen ranking for Barrio Logan may actually assist the community in getting resources and regulatory attention focused on the neighborhood. Funding for environmental clean ups, increased enforcement, and affordable housing are some of the benefits that community residents hope to see.

To be notified when the Community Plan update goes to Council, contact Georgette Gómez, GeorgetteG@environmentalhealth.org or 619-474-0220 ext. 104.

To get more information about Environmental Health Coalition, click here.

Joy Williams is Research Director at Environmental Health Coalition

Since 1980, Environmental Health Coalition has fought toxic pollution, discriminatory land use, and unsustainable energy policies. Through leader development, organizing and advocacy, EHC empowers residents to achieve public policies that improve the health of children, families, neighborhoods and the natural environment in the San Diego/Tijuana region.

Tagged as: Barrio Logan

http://sandiegofreepress.org/2013/04/barrio-logan-community-pl... 4/24/2013
bob dorn April 18, 2013 at 10:19 am

A good long look at one of Logan’s continuing realities. This was a city and state that sacrificed Logan’s environment (along with Little Italy’s) to freeways, and Logan especially paid for our national defense with its lungs and blood chemistry. Thank you to the ECH for keeping health issues alive, and to the residents of Logan who have been telling the story on their own walls and columns.

Reply

Leave a Comment

Name *

E-mail *

Website

Submit

☐ Be notified of followup comments via e-mail. You can also subscribe without commenting.

Older Article: No More Hurting People – Peace

Newer Article: The Starting Line – Boston Bombing Evidence Blocked by NRA Lobbying Efforts

http://sandiegofreepress.org/2013/04/barrio-logan-community-pl... 4/24/2013
• Search the SDFP

To search, type and hit enter.

• Keep in Touch with SDFP

• Get SDFP Updates by Email

Enter your email address to get daily updates via email:

Subscribe

Delivered by FeedBurner

See our Subscriptions Page for more options

• Editor's Picks

• Corporate Education Reform Goes to College Despite Flunking Out in the K-12 System

http://sandiegofreepress.org/2013/04/barrio-logan-community-pl... 4/24/2013
• Desde la Logan: What Does Chicano Park Mean to You?
• Restaurant Review – Las Cuatro Milpas
• The Starting Line – Who Didn’t Set Off the Bombs at the Boston Marathon
• I’m not Sure if I Adopted Barrio Logan or if It Adopted Me...
• West Coast Babies Suffer Thyroid Problems After Fukushima Nuclear Meltdown

Recent Comments

Frank Gormlie on Darrell Steinberg Says CEQA Reform Not Dead Yet
Who's Darrell Steinberg?

John Lawrence on Federal Government Should Carefully Consider Whether Aid Warranted in West, Texas
Maybe the Justice Department should sue the owners of the fertilizer plant, who after all were grossly negligent, and use ...

John Lawrence on Parts of Barrio Logan Have No Sidewalks – Does Anyone Care?
When is the city going to pave the sidewalks from the Convention Center south on Harbor Drive to Barrio Logan? ...

Goatskull on Federal Government Should Carefully Consider Whether Aid Warranted in West, Texas
I'm on the fence with this. You have a very valid point and there's certainly some satisfaction I get ...

bob dorn on Parts of Barrio Logan Have No Sidewalks – Does Anyone Care?
Great job, John Anderson. The city celebrates its Harbor Drive only so far as the tourist zone; once it reaches ...

bob dorn on Federal Government Should Carefully Consider Whether Aid Warranted in West, Texas
Sorry, denying people the rescue funds because they've denied it to others is... just... revenge. You ask if the ...

Christine Schanes on Homelessness: Man’s Inhumanity to Man
Hi, Jody, I'm happy that we at the San Diego Free Press can be of assistance to you. Anna is ...
Anna Daniels on Homelessness: Man’s Inhumanity to Man
Jody- call 211 You can talk to people at a centralized information and referral service about all of...

• Six Months Ago on SDFP

  • Sandra Fluke, My New Hero
  • Desde la Logan: Día de los Muertos, We Commemorate Our Dead
  • Paranoia at the Polls: The San Diego Election Integrity Project’s Troubling "Evidence"
  • Nancy Reagan, where art thou?
  • Shapeshifting Romney Smacked Around in Final Presidential Debate
  • SDFP Exclusive: The Dove and the Cockerel

• Communities: Click the name to view the archives

  Balboa Park Barrio Logan Carlsbad Chula Vista City Heights
  Coronado Del Mar District 4 Downtown downtown San Diego El Cajon Encinitas
  Escondido Hillcrest Imperial Beach Kensington La Jolla La Mesa Lemon Grove Mission Bay
  Mission Beach Mission Valley National City Normal Heights North County North Park
  North San Diego County Ocean Beach Oceanside Old Town Pacific Beach Paradise Hills Point
  Loma Poway Ramona San Diego at Large San Onofre Santee San Ysidro Sherman
  Heights Solana Beach Southeast San Diego South Park Tijuana University City

• Over at OB Rag:

  • Mayor Filner Angry at Federal Raid on Pot Dispensary and Demands Answers
    Federal Official Reacts to Filner's Anger and Displays Woefully Inadequate Understanding of Medicinal Herb
    Mayor Bob Filner is very angry...
  • The Best Bicycle Ride Around Mission Bay
    A Tour of the Best Bicycle Route Around San Diego's Aquatic Playland This started out as a chronicle - complete...
  • Dave Davis – Once San Diego’s Printer for the Movement

http://sandiegofreepress.org/2013/04/barrio-logan-community-pl...  4/24/2013
Every now and then we must pause in our daily rush and grind to acknowledge the passing of someone who...

- The Joys and Pleasures of Composting
  Why Are People So Squeamish About Composting? By Jill Richardson /La Vida Locavore / April 19, 2013 I wrote this...

Subscribe to this Feed

- Topics
  - Activism
  - Arts
  - Books & Poetry
  - Business
  - City Heights: Up Close & Personal
  - Columns
  - Culture
  - Desde la Logan
  - Economy
  - Editor's Picks
  - Education
  - Encore
  - Environment
  - Field of View
  - Film & Theater
  - Food & Drink
  - From the Soul
  - Government
  - Health
  - Labor
  - Media
  - Music
  - Politics
  - Readers Write
  - Satire
  - SD for Free

http://sandiegofreepress.org/2013/04/barrio-logan-community-pl...  4/24/2013
- Sex in San Diego
- Sports
- The Dove and the Cockerel
- The Starting Line
- Travel
- Under the Perfect Sun
- Voter Guide 2012

- Archives

- April 2013
- March 2013
- February 2013
- January 2013
- December 2012
- November 2012
- October 2012
- September 2012
- August 2012
- July 2012
- June 2012
- May 2012
- April 2012
- March 2012
- February 2012
- October 2011
- September 2011
- August 2011
- May 2011
- March 2011
- September 2010

Sitemap | Contact | About Us | Terms of Use

Copyright 2010-2013 SanDiegoFreePress.org | Web Hosting By Arvixe | Code is Poetry